NIUBI, a talented systems engineer, is invited by the boss of software Bar, to help fix bugs they can't fix.Bar's internal system was attacked by other hackers. The original security officer was bribed by another company to delete the source code that kept the system secure before leaving. NIUBI lived up to expectations, building a more secure system while resisting attacks from different directions for an average of an hour.

Through the direction of attack and previous experience, NIUBI has determined that the purpose of the attacker is only to influence the background system of the software and steal benefits from it.

Knowing the enemy's intentions, NIUBI immediately deployed traps. Luring the enemy into a trap of his own ingestion. After entering the trap, take advantage of the enemy's greed and let him fall into the trap. Let it go into an infinite loop, can't get out

The results are exactly the same, after the enemy into the trap, the trap is actually a money laundering company behind the system. NIUBI immediately called the police and dealt with it, not only punishing the enemy but also making it unable to compete with Bar software.

In order to do justice, NIUBI explained in court that the money laundering system was actually a trap software set by himself. Although rivals, but to maintain the trust between people. NIUBI defended him and dropped charges of money laundering.

Network security is urgent. The boss of BAR software declared that NIUBI would be invited to continue to serve as the network security officer of BAR software, and it is the responsibility of every one of us to protect users' funds and capital information.

NIUBI, a talented systems engineer, is invited by the boss of software Bar, to help fix bugs they can't fix.Bar's internal system was attacked by other hackers. The original security officer was bribed by another company to delete the source code that kept the system secure before leaving. NIUBI lived up to expectations, building a more secure system while resisting attacks from different directions for an average of an hour.

Through the direction of attack and previous experience, NIUBI has determined that the purpose of the attacker is only to influence the background system of the software and steal benefits from it.

Knowing the enemy's intentions, NIUBI immediately deployed traps. Luring the enemy into a trap of his own ingestion. After entering the trap, take advantage of the enemy's greed and let him fall into the trap. Let it go into an infinite loop, can't get out

The results are exactly the same, after the enemy into the trap, the trap is actually a money laundering company behind the system. NIUBI immediately called the police and dealt with it, not only punishing the enemy but also making it unable to compete with Bar software.

In order to do justice, NIUBI explained in court that the money laundering system was actually a trap software set by himself. Although rivals, but to maintain the trust between people. NIUBI defended him and dropped charges of money laundering.

Network security is urgent. The boss of BAR software declared that NIUBI would be invited to continue to serve as the network security officer of BAR software, and it is the responsibility of every one of us to protect users' funds and capital information.